Gently inserts speculum, and cleanses the cervical os and vaginal wall with antiseptic
Gently grasps the anterior lip of cervix with an vulsellum/tenaculum and applies gentle traction (If tenaculum is used, the prongs of tenaculum should hold the anterior lip of cervix at 11 o'clock and 1 o'clock positions to avoid cervical injury)
Inserts the uterine sound using the "no touch" technique
Loads the IUCD in its sterile package using 'No touch technique'
Sets the blue length-gauge to the measurement of the uterus
Carefully inserts the loaded IUCD, and releases it into the uterus using the 'withdrawal technique'
Withdraws the plunger rod. Gently pushes the insertion tube upward again until slight resistance is felt
Partially withdraws insertion tube until the string can be seen extending from the cervical os

	YES	NO
Introduction Wash hands, Introduce self, Ask Patient's name, address, Explain examination, ask patient to void and obtain consent
General examination: pallor. Pedal oedema, blood pressure BMI
Position the patient lying at 15° with a small rolled towel placed under the right hip and knees should be semiflexed and feet together and expose the abdomen from xiphisternum to pubic symphysis. Stand on right side of the patient
Abdominal inspection Distension, Fetal movements, Scars Skin changes Linea nigra: Striae gravidarum: Striae albicans: Excoriations Distended superficial veins Umbilicus eversion
Palpation Tell if there is a dextrorotation, It will be corrected
Fundal height- Use the ulnar edge of left hand to press down in a stepwise fashion from xiphisternum downwards to find the fundus (first bit of resistance)
SFH- measure from pubic symphysis to fundal resistance with measuring tape To eliminate bias, measure with the inches side upwards, then turn over for centimetres reading.
Fundal grip: The uterine contour is outlined by the examiner, placing both of his or her hands on each upper quadrant of the patient's abdomen facing the maternal xiphoid cartilage. The ulnar border of each hand is in contact with the abdominal wall, and the opposite fingers are touching each other. Using the fingertips, the fundus is gently palpated to identify which fetal part is present in the upper pole (fundus) of the uterus.
Umbilical grip: Still facing the maternal xiphoid cartilage, both hands slide down from the uterine fundus towards the lateral uterine walls. The clinician's hands are placed flat and parallel to each other along the abdominal wall at the level of the umbilicus. The operator places the two flat hands sideways to the uterus and tries to bring them closer to the midline. Gently palpate each side of the uterus
First pelvic grip: the ulnar border of right hand is placed over pubic symphysis and place the thumb and fingers of the right hand close above the pubic symphysis and draws the thumb and finger near to clasp the lower uterine segment including its contents.
Second pelvic grip: the examiner faces toward the maternal pelvis. places the palms of both hands on either side of the lower abdomen, with the tips of the fingers facing downward toward the pelvic inlet. The fingertips of each hand are used to apply deep pressure from the outside to the inside and in a craniocaudal direction along the lower contour of the uterus towards the birth canal.
Fifth maneuver" of Leopold, or maneuver of Zagenmeister, In the cephalic presentation, the hand is placed flat on the pubic symphysis, and the palpation could delineate the fetal head portion that can be reached above the pelvic inlet. If the fetal head accommodates two fingerbreadths above the pelvic brim, it is said to be engaged.
Liquor volume Palpate around and ballot fluid to assess the approximate quantity (oligohydramnios, polyhydramnios)
Fetal heart auscultation Find the back of the fetus and place the Pinard Horn or Doppler fetal monitor (Sonicaid) just behind the anterior shoulder, i.e. halfway between mother's umbilicus and ASIS on the side of the fetus' back (try both sides if unsure) Feel the mother's pulse at the same time Calculate the fetal heart rate (should be 120-160 bpm). Listen for 1 minute.
Thank patient and restore clothing
